

6 Social Media Policy

Policy overview and purpose

Social media is changing the way we communicate.

This policy has been developed to inform our community about using social media so people feel enabled to participate, while being mindful of their responsibilities and obligations. In particular, this policy provides practical guidance allowing all parties to benefit from the use of social media, while minimising potential risks and protecting those involved.

This policy assists to establish a culture of openness, trust and integrity in all online activities related to the Riverland Dinghy Club.

This policy contains Riverland Dinghy Club guidelines for the Riverland Dinghy Club community to engage in social media use. It also includes details of breaches of the policy.

In circumstances where guidance about social media issues has not been given in this policy, we suggest you use common sense or seek out advice from those who have approved this policy.

Underlying principles

This policy complements Riverland Dinghy Club's core values:

Vision statement –

To create a race experience that embodies a unique opportunity to continue the tradition of the Dinghy Derby established in 1981. We are dedicated to the highest quality of dinghy racing, delivered with a sense of friendliness, individual competition and club spirit.

Mission Statement

We consider our Mission Statement a commitment to our club's history established in 1981.

Our aim is to continue to provide a race experience that embodies the unique ideas of our founding members who were deeply passionate and competitive.

We are an open minded club – involving racers through leadership and individual acceptance, assisting them as role models to realize their full potential.

We do this by delivering race events that are carried out in a manner which secures and enhances the safety of participants, officials, spectators and the public and which allows the sport to strengthen and grow.

We seek to continually improve and be aware of our environment.

The Riverland Dinghy Club Inc. Current Committee is responsible for all matters related to this policy.

Coverage

This policy applies to all persons who are involved with the activities of the Riverland Dinghy Club, whether they are in an unpaid/voluntary capacity and including:

- Any other online technologies that allow individual users to upload and share content.

This policy is applicable when using social media as:

1. an officially designated individual representing Riverland Dinghy Club on social media; and
2. If you are posting content on social media in relation to Riverland Dinghy Club that might affect Riverland Dinghy Club's business, products, services, events, sponsors, members or reputation.

NOTE: This policy does not apply to the personal use of social media where it is not related to or there is no reference to the Riverland Dinghy Club or its business, competitions, participants, products, services, events, sponsors, members or reputation. However, any misuse by you of social media in a manner that does not directly refer to Riverland Dinghy Club may still be regulated by other policies, rules or regulations of the Riverland Dinghy Club.

Using social media in an official capacity

You must be authorised by the Club's President before engaging in social media as a representative of the Riverland Dinghy Club.

As a part of the Riverland Dinghy Club's, community you are an extension of the Riverland Dinghy Club's brand.

As such, the boundaries between when you are representing yourself and when you are representing Riverland Dinghy Club can often be blurred. This becomes even more of an issue as you increase your profile or position within Riverland Dinghy Club. Therefore it is important that you represent both yourself and Riverland Dinghy Club appropriately online at all times.

Guidelines

You must adhere to the following guidelines when using social media related to Riverland Dinghy Club, its business, products, competitions, participants, services, events, sponsors, members or reputation.

Use common sense

Whenever you are unsure as to whether or not the content you wish to share is appropriate, seek advice from others before doing so or refrain from sharing the content to be on the safe side.

When using social media, the lines between public and private, personal and professional, may be blurred. Remember, you are an ambassador for the Riverland Dinghy Club.

Protecting your privacy

Be smart about protecting yourself and your privacy.

When posting content online there is potential for that content to become publicly available through a variety of means, even if it was intended to be shared privately. Therefore, you should refrain from posting any content online that you would not be happy for anyone to see, even if you feel confident that a particular individual would never see it.

Where possible, privacy settings on social media platforms should be set to limit access. You should also be cautious about disclosing your personal details.

Honesty

Your honesty—or dishonesty—may be quickly noticed in the social media environment. Do not say anything that is dishonest, untrue or misleading. If you are unsure, check the source and the facts before uploading or posting anything. The Riverland Dinghy Club recommends erring on the side of caution – if in doubt, do not post or upload.

Do not post anonymously, using pseudonyms or false screen names. Be transparent and honest. Use your real name, be clear about who you are and identify any affiliations you have.

If you have a vested interest in something you are discussing, point it out. If you make an endorsement or recommendation about something you are affiliated with, or have a close relationship with, you must disclose that affiliation.

The web is not anonymous. You should assume that all information posted online can be traced back to you. You are accountable for your actions both on and offline, including the information you post via your personal social media accounts.

Use of disclaimers

Wherever practical, include a prominent disclaimer stating who you work for or are affiliated with (e.g. member of the Riverland Dinghy Club) and that anything you publish is your personal opinion and that you are not speaking officially. This is good practice and is encouraged, but don't count on it to avoid trouble — it may not have legal effect.

Respect confidentiality and sensitivity

When using social media, you must maintain the privacy of the Riverland Dinghy Club's confidential information. This includes information that is not publically accessible, widely known, or not expected to be shared outside of the Riverland Dinghy Club.

Remember, if you are online, you are on the record—much of the content posted online is public and searchable.

Within the scope of your authorisation by Riverland Dinghy Club, it is perfectly acceptable to talk about the Riverland Dinghy Club and have a dialogue with the community, but it is not okay to publish confidential information of the Riverland Dinghy Club. Confidential information includes things such as details about litigation, unreleased product information and unpublished details about our sponsors, competitors, competitor's equipment and practices, financial information and trade secrets.

When using social media you should be considerate to others and should not post information when you have been asked not to, or where consent has not been sought and given. You must also remove information about another person if that person asks you to do so.

Permission should always be sought if the use or publication of information is not incidental, but directly related to an individual. This is particularly relevant to publishing any information regarding minors. In such circumstances, parental or guardian consent is mandatory.

Gaining permission when publishing a person's identifiable image

You must obtain express permission from an individual to use a direct, clearly identifiable image of that person.

You should also refrain from posting any information or photos of a sensitive nature. This could include accidents, incidents or controversial behaviour.

In every instance, you need to have consent of the owner of copyright in the image.

Complying with applicable laws

Do not post or link to content that contains illegal or indecent content, including defamatory, vilifying or misleading and deceptive content.

Abiding by copyright laws

It is critical that you comply with the laws governing copyright in relation to material owned by others and Riverland Dinghy Club's own copyrights, trademarks and brands.

You should never quote or use more than short excerpts of someone else's work, and you should always attribute such work to the original author/source. It is good practice to link to others' work rather than reproduce it.

Discrimination, sexual harassment and bullying

The public in general, and Riverland Dinghy Club's members, reflect a diverse set of customs, values and points of view.

You must not post any material that is offensive, harassing, discriminatory, embarrassing, intimidating, sexually explicit, bullying, hateful, racist, sexist or otherwise inappropriate.

When using social media you may also be bound by the Riverland Dinghy Club's values, code of conduct and competitors rules.

Avoiding controversial issues

Within the scope of your authorisation by the Riverland Dinghy Club if you see misrepresentations made about the Riverland Dinghy Club in the media, you may point that out to the relevant authority in your Riverland Dinghy Club. Always do so with respect and with the facts. If you speak about others, make sure what you say is based on fact and does not discredit or belittle that party.

Dealing with mistakes

If the Riverland Dinghy Club makes an error while posting on social media, be up front about the mistake and address it quickly. If you choose to modify an earlier post, make it clear that you have done so. If someone accuses the Riverland Dinghy Club of posting something improper (such as their copyrighted material or a defamatory comment about them), address it promptly and appropriately and if necessary, seek legal advice.

Conscientious behaviour and awareness of the consequences

Keep in mind that what you write is your responsibility, and failure to abide by these guidelines could put your membership at risk.

You should always follow the terms and conditions for any third-party sites in which you participate.

Branding and intellectual property of Riverland Dinghy Club

You must not use any of the Riverland Dinghy Club's intellectual property or imagery on your personal social media without prior approval from the Riverland Dinghy Club.

The Riverland Dinghy Club's intellectual property includes but is not limited to:

- trademarks
- logos
- slogans
- Imagery which has been posted on the Riverland Dinghy Club official social media sites or website.

- Rules
- Policies

You must not create either an official or unofficial Riverland Dinghy Club presence using the organisation's trademarks or name without prior approval from the Riverland Dinghy Club.

You must not imply that you are authorised to speak on behalf of the Riverland Dinghy Club unless you have been given official authorisation to do so by the Riverland Dinghy Club.

Where permission has been granted to create or administer an official social media presence for the Riverland Dinghy Club, you must adhere to the Riverland Dinghy Club Social Media Policy

Policy breaches

Breaches of this policy include but are not limited to:

- Using the Riverland Dinghy Club's name, vision statement, logo in a way that would result in a negative impact for the organisation, club and/or its members.
- Posting or sharing any content that is abusive, harassing, threatening, demeaning, defamatory or libellous.
- Posting or sharing any content that includes insulting, obscene, offensive, provocative or hateful language.
- Posting or sharing any content, which if said in person during the event would result in a breach of the competitor rules and or code of conduct.
- Posting or sharing any content in breach of the Riverland Dinghy Club's policies.
- Posting or sharing any content that is a breach of any state or Commonwealth law.
- Posting or sharing any material to our social media channels that infringes the intellectual property rights of others.
- Posting or sharing material that brings, or risks bringing the Riverland Dinghy Club its affiliates, its sport, its officials, members or sponsors into disrepute. In this context, bringing a person or organisation into disrepute is to lower the reputation of that person or organisation in the eyes of the ordinary members of the public.

Reporting a breach

If you notice inappropriate or unlawful content online relating to the Riverland Dinghy Club or any of its members, or content that may otherwise have been published in breach of this policy, you should report the circumstances immediately.

Contact via email: riverlandinghyclub@hotmail.com

Further information about reporting breaches:

- For a complaint about the misuse of social media relating to an event or function that occurs either prior to, during, or after a event/function; refer to Riverland Dinghy Club's Competitor Rules

Investigation

Alleged breaches of this social media policy may be investigated according to the Riverland Dinghy Club's Competitor Rules

Where it is considered necessary, the Riverland Dinghy Club, may report a breach of this social media policy to police.

Disciplinary process, consequences and appeals

Depending on the circumstances breaches of this policy may be dealt with in accordance with the disciplinary procedure contained in the Riverland Dinghy Club's Competitor Rules

Appeals

Any person who is sanctioned under a disciplinary process for breach of this policy may have a right of appeal in writing to the club's email address addressing any additional information that could impact on the outcome or that was not considered and/or applied in the first decision.

The appeal will be presented to a closed committee meeting of the Riverland Dinghy Club. The decision of the committee shall be accepted as final with no further appeal.
